

PSYCHIC RESEARCH NEWSLETTER

VOL. 1 NO. 1

MAY-JUNE

1984

Psychic Research Incorporated is a non-profit corporation devoted to the study of the subtle forces and energies that compose the human being and his environment. Our primary aim is to bring about a scientific understanding of the energies which have been often called "metaphysical."

By means of applied research and the development of new experimental techniques, we hope to answer such questions as: What are the properties of these energies? Can they be quantified? What are the mathematics that will allow for their expression in the proper scientific vernacular? Can they be used systematically to facilitate healing in instances of acute and chronic disease?

At the foundation of PRI's research are these hypotheses: AS A MAN THINK-ETH, SO HE IS, and ENERGY FOLLOWS THOUGHT. Ultimately, we are interested in exploring the dynamic relationships between man and the universe, mind and matter.

Some 14 years ago, research scientist Marcel Vogel conducted the first experiments which eventually led to the present objectives of PRI. By wiring the leaf of a philodendron to a simple wheatstone bridge and a strip chart recorder, he was able to document that when an individual focused his thoughts on the plant, an energy transfer occurred.

In the search for a deeper grasp of this phenomenon, Vogel realized that quartz crystal worked effectively as a bio-energetic transducer, and that specific geometric shapes enhanced energy amplification. His experiments indicated that these modified crystals were useful in adjusting and balancing the bio-electric fields in human beings.

PRI will bring key scientists together to springboard off Vogel's previous work and search for additional bio-energetic transducers. We expect the efforts will lead to the development of new knowledge and technologies with significant applications for medicine and agriculture.

RESEARCH LABORATORY

San Jose, May 1st 1984, P.R.I. opened its new laboratory, dedicated to the study of subtle energies. Scientific professionals will work and study at the private non-profit facility, by invitation. P.R.I.'s research findings will be distributed through the Newsletter, books, lectures, video tapes, computer programs and appropriate professional journals. As energy transducers, and other devices are developed for the study of life forces and biomagnetic energies, they will be made available.

☆ PEOPLE PROFILES ☆

Joe Terry Smith will be coming to P.R.I. in June to conduct research on vibrational insect management. The theory supporting his work is that different species of insects are sensitive to specific vibrational frequencies. Hopefully, by isolating these frequencies and directing them on crops, insect pests can be controlled without chemicals, thus avoiding unwanted genetic mutations to plant and animal life.

Joe holds a M.S. in Agriculture from U.C. Davis, and is currently on Maui doing research on vibrational energies. He was on staff at Merritt College in Oakland, California, and ran his own landscape architecture company.

Sally White, a herbalist from Cocolalla, Idaho is working with Essence Chemistry at P.R.I. Essence Chemistry deals with the utilization of pure herbal essences to correct imbalances in the bio-electric fields of humans. Sally will be studying high-tech methods of capturing pure essences in the P.R.I. Labs.

Crystallographer, research scientist, and lecturer, Marcel Vogel is a man of many interests and talents.

Fourteen years ago Marcel became aware of the power of mind to interact with matter, both living and non-living. Upon this realization he began the difficult task of bringing a scientific model to metaphysical phenomena. Recent developments in chemistry and physics indicate that science is indeed compatible with metaphysics. The challenge is to link the two realms through a common language, a form of measurement and the proper mathematics.

Marcel's early experiments in subtle energies showed that plants responded to thought. They are described in the book, "The Secret Life of Plants." In 1974 he started a study of natural quartz crystals as transducing devices for the detection and adjustment of the biomagnetic fields of human beings. He found that adjusting these fields caused beneficial changes in the human body which in turn facilitated healing of a wide assortment of illnesses. Marcel called this new science, Transformational Medicine.

Marcel published his first paper, "The Cold Light of Insects" in 1939. This early interest in luminescence led to the founding of his own corporation, and the development of fluorescent/phosphorescent paint products which included: billboard enamels, tempora colors, artists oils, crayons, and powders. After fourteen years he sold Vogel Luminescence Corporation and went to work for I.B.M. Research. At I.B.M. Marcel pioneered work on liquid crystals as display systems and rare earth phosphors. Which are now used in color television, light emitting diodes (L.E.D's), fluorescent lamps and other products. He also invented and patented the magnetic coatings for I.B.M. storage discs. After 27 years he retired to assume his new responsibility, Psychic Research, Incorporated.

THINGS TO PONDER

With each issue we intend to show the interlinking of world knowledge, among all nations and all peoples through many civilizations. Few people are aware that the American Indian culture has many teachings and prophecies which correlate to and are supportive of the information available in today's scientific community. In this issue we are focusing on the HOPI PROPHECY. This prophecy was known and accepted by most of the Native American Peoples.

The Hopi prophecy about the new age. This ancient word tells of the coming of Coronado. The story of two World Wars, great technological revolution, and the eastern peoples taking the technical advantage. Specifically . . . "the board of ash" that would poison the land and cause women to bring forth damaged children . . . the atomic bomb. A path in the sky that people would travel upon . . . the airplane. Rivers of stone will cross the land . . . the great highways. A cobweb will cover the land and people will speak through it. It predicts that people from the east, would come to the Hopi . . . as the Tibetans have . . . (The Tibetan Prophecy says that when the iron horse rides on rails and the iron bird flies, the people of Tibet will be scattered to the four corners of the world. At that time the high priest was to take the seed of the Darma from that Holyland, and cross the ocean to the land of the red faced people. They must replant the seed of the Darma in this land, and share their information.) It started on a Christmas day. For four days the Dali Lama and the Hopi elders talked. The Seed of the Darma was planted. They discovered the words for sun and moon in Tibetan were just the opposite in Hopi. Their holy places have the same topography and metaphysical characteristics. These two, highly evolved, ancient cultures represent the harmony, the balance. If these people of the peaceful path fail to survive, will it mean doom?

The Hopi speak of the people on this path as the One Hearted People. If prophecy continues to be true, what can those of us who wish to be One Hearted People do to help? We can accept those teachings from the East balanced with those from the West and be absolutely true to our best self. We can learn to take personal guidance directly from God and have the courage to act on this information. We will be doing our best to serve. The prophecy is near an end.

The "red hat, red coat people" are prophesized to come out of the west. (From our "far east") They will become large in numbers, and they would fall out of the sky like rain. They would overtake this land in one day. They will have no mercy and will impose a life style upon our own. This would be for a short time only. If it occurs it will accelerate "the joining of the two halves of the stone". The migration of two halves of the one hearted people, who each have part of the stone will be ended and create the beginning of a time of purification.

There were other parts of the Hopi prophecy . . . "When the eagle lands on the moon, it will be the beginning of a new age." (That was 1969, and almost everyone knows where they were when the Eagle landed.) "The first ten years will be a time of learning awareness." (By 1979 most of the awareness organizations were in trouble, transition was difficult.) "The second ten years will be a time of living awareness." (Scientific Organizations like P.R.I. and people who practice their awareness are now stepping forward in large numbers.) Perhaps we are being trained for the third ten year cycle. It will be interesting to see what 1989 to 1999 will require of all the people.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

EXPERIMENT FOR SCIENTISTS AND LAYMEN

In order for scientists and laypersons to improve their understanding of subtle energies, P.R.I. is designing a series of experiments. In addition, the experiments will make a significant contribution to the development of a data base, that should increase our knowledge of subtle energies.

The first experiment offers a practical means to establish the fact of energy transfer from the human body to other living forms. This is most significant for "Energetic Healing". For in speaking of healing, one postulates that something moves from the healer to the healee. To show this in unequivocal terms, try the following experiment:

Choose a plant which has leaves which are rather thick and high in moisture content. The following are recommended for use: 1. Geranium leaves 2. Saxifragia 3. Comfrey 4. Ivy philodendron. Use your fingers to pick two leaves from the same plant which are of equal dimension and age. Take two sheets of clean white typing paper and label one sheet "treated," the other "untreated" or "control." Place the control leaf on the control sheet and put it where it won't be disturbed, ideally in an unused room.

To treat the leaf place the leaf on the palm of the left hand with the stem facing to the rear of the hand. Place the right hand parallel above the leaf and slowly oscillate the hand up and down, moving from four to seven inches above the leaf, while at the same time slowly filling the lungs. Hold the breath and focus on the leaf. With the outgoing breath project the thought to the leaf of remaining whole, free from disease and continuing to live.

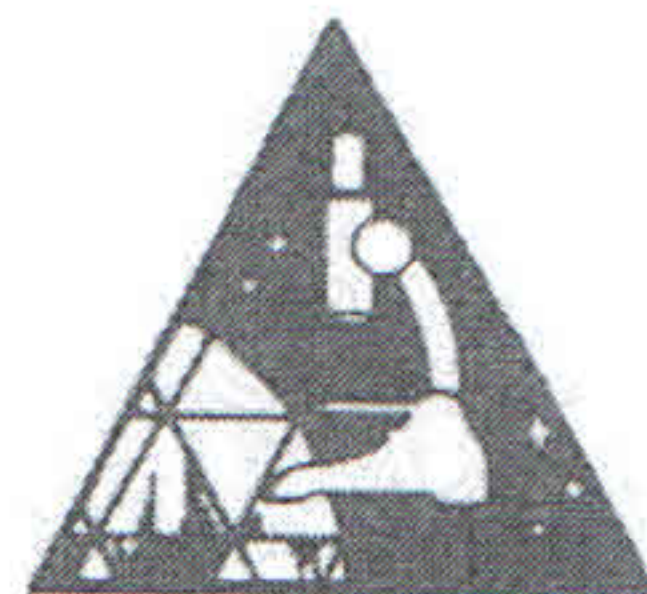

Continue this for two minutes, breathing in slowly and with the outgoing breath repeating the above thoughts. At the end of the second minute release the breath suddenly with the thought "LIVE." Carefully place this leaf onto the paper marked "treated," photograph the two leaves, and record the time and date.

Be sure the leaves are undisturbed. Look in on them each day and project the thought of "living" to the treated leaf, and "not living" to the untreated. At the end of each week photograph the two leaves, but do not touch them. Continue observing and photographing the leaves for at least one month and see what takes place.

This form of experimentation opens up a host of ideal variations:

- A. One can check the healing effect of the use of a crystal
- B. One can observe the influence of pyramidal objects placed over and in the proximity of a leaf.
- C. One can test the transducing properties of different gems, on maintaining the vitality of the leaf.
- D. One can test if drugs, vitamins, tissue salts, Homeopathic or Bach Flower Remedies in proximity to the treated leaf have any effect.

Those with more sophisticated equipment may want to measure weight changes in the leaves and take photographs through a Wratten "A" filter using infrared film. If so, always use rubber gloves when handling the leaves after the initial preparation.

FOUNDATIONS EVALUATE P.R.I.

The first efforts to encourage grants, for research, have been undertaken. Bob Fritchie, as executive officer of the corporation, is endeavoring to locate foundations that are interested in new approaches to healing and agriculture.

FUNDING SOURCES REQUIRED

We would appreciate your assistance in finding appropriate sources of funding. After a recommendation by Science of Mind, the first major foundation approached P.R.I. Thank You!

MARCEL VOGEL GIVEN A TESTIMONIAL LUNCHEON BY I.B.M. IN SAN JOSE

After 27 years of dedicated service to I.B.M., Marcel Vogel was treated to a delightful personal experience. With his wife and daughter in attendance, many of his associates described their more than professional respect for this loving man. It was obvious that he served them, and I.B.M., in more than a scientific capacity. We and his former associates wish him a long and happy life. He now takes up his duties as Chief Scientist, and President of P.R.I.

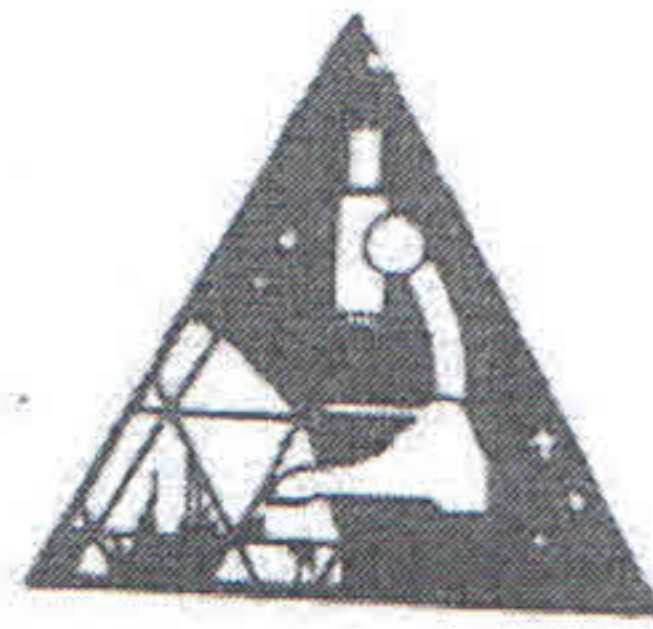

Another important bit of information is that in using infrared film through a Wratten "A" filter, one will observe that the treated leaf continues to reflect infrared radiation just the same as a living plant does. But the control leaf dies in a few days and no longer reflects infrared radiation. By the use of infra-red photography one can photograph the vital aspect of a living system, and when that life process is no longer actively functioning.

I would like to see each of you, who wish, complete this experiment just as it is described. Keep careful records, and send us your results, and photographs, if that is possible. This will provide an invaluable data base. We will summarize your information in a forthcoming newsletter.

In the next newsletter we will discuss the measurement of this vital energy with dowsing rods and its usefulness in detecting the purity of water and the suitability of foods for our diet. Have fun. Let us see your results. God be with all of you.

QUOTE AND COMMENT — H.G. Wells once wrote, "Human history, more and more, becomes a race between education and catastrophe." Should we contribute to a major solution to health or agriculture, it will still be necessary to interface those solutions with society. We will have to deal with ignorance and vested interest. While the scientific research is going forward we should not forget to do our sociological homework.

THE FIRST MAJOR STUDIES AT P.R.I.'s NEW LAB

Future publications of the Newsletter will present a syllabus for planned research. Now that we have a fully equipped laboratory to work from, P.R.I. can concentrate on key research to evaluate these subtle energies.

To address these problems, P.R.I.'s first major studies will analyze the properties of these energies. This in turn should increase our overall understanding.

(All who are studying crystal technology using a healing crystal want to know the principal behind its operation.)

The basic parameters for the initial study are:

- A. Identify the charge released from the healing crystal.
- B. Search for other substances that will store the energy released from a healing crystal.
- C. Publish our findings in the appropriate scientific journals.

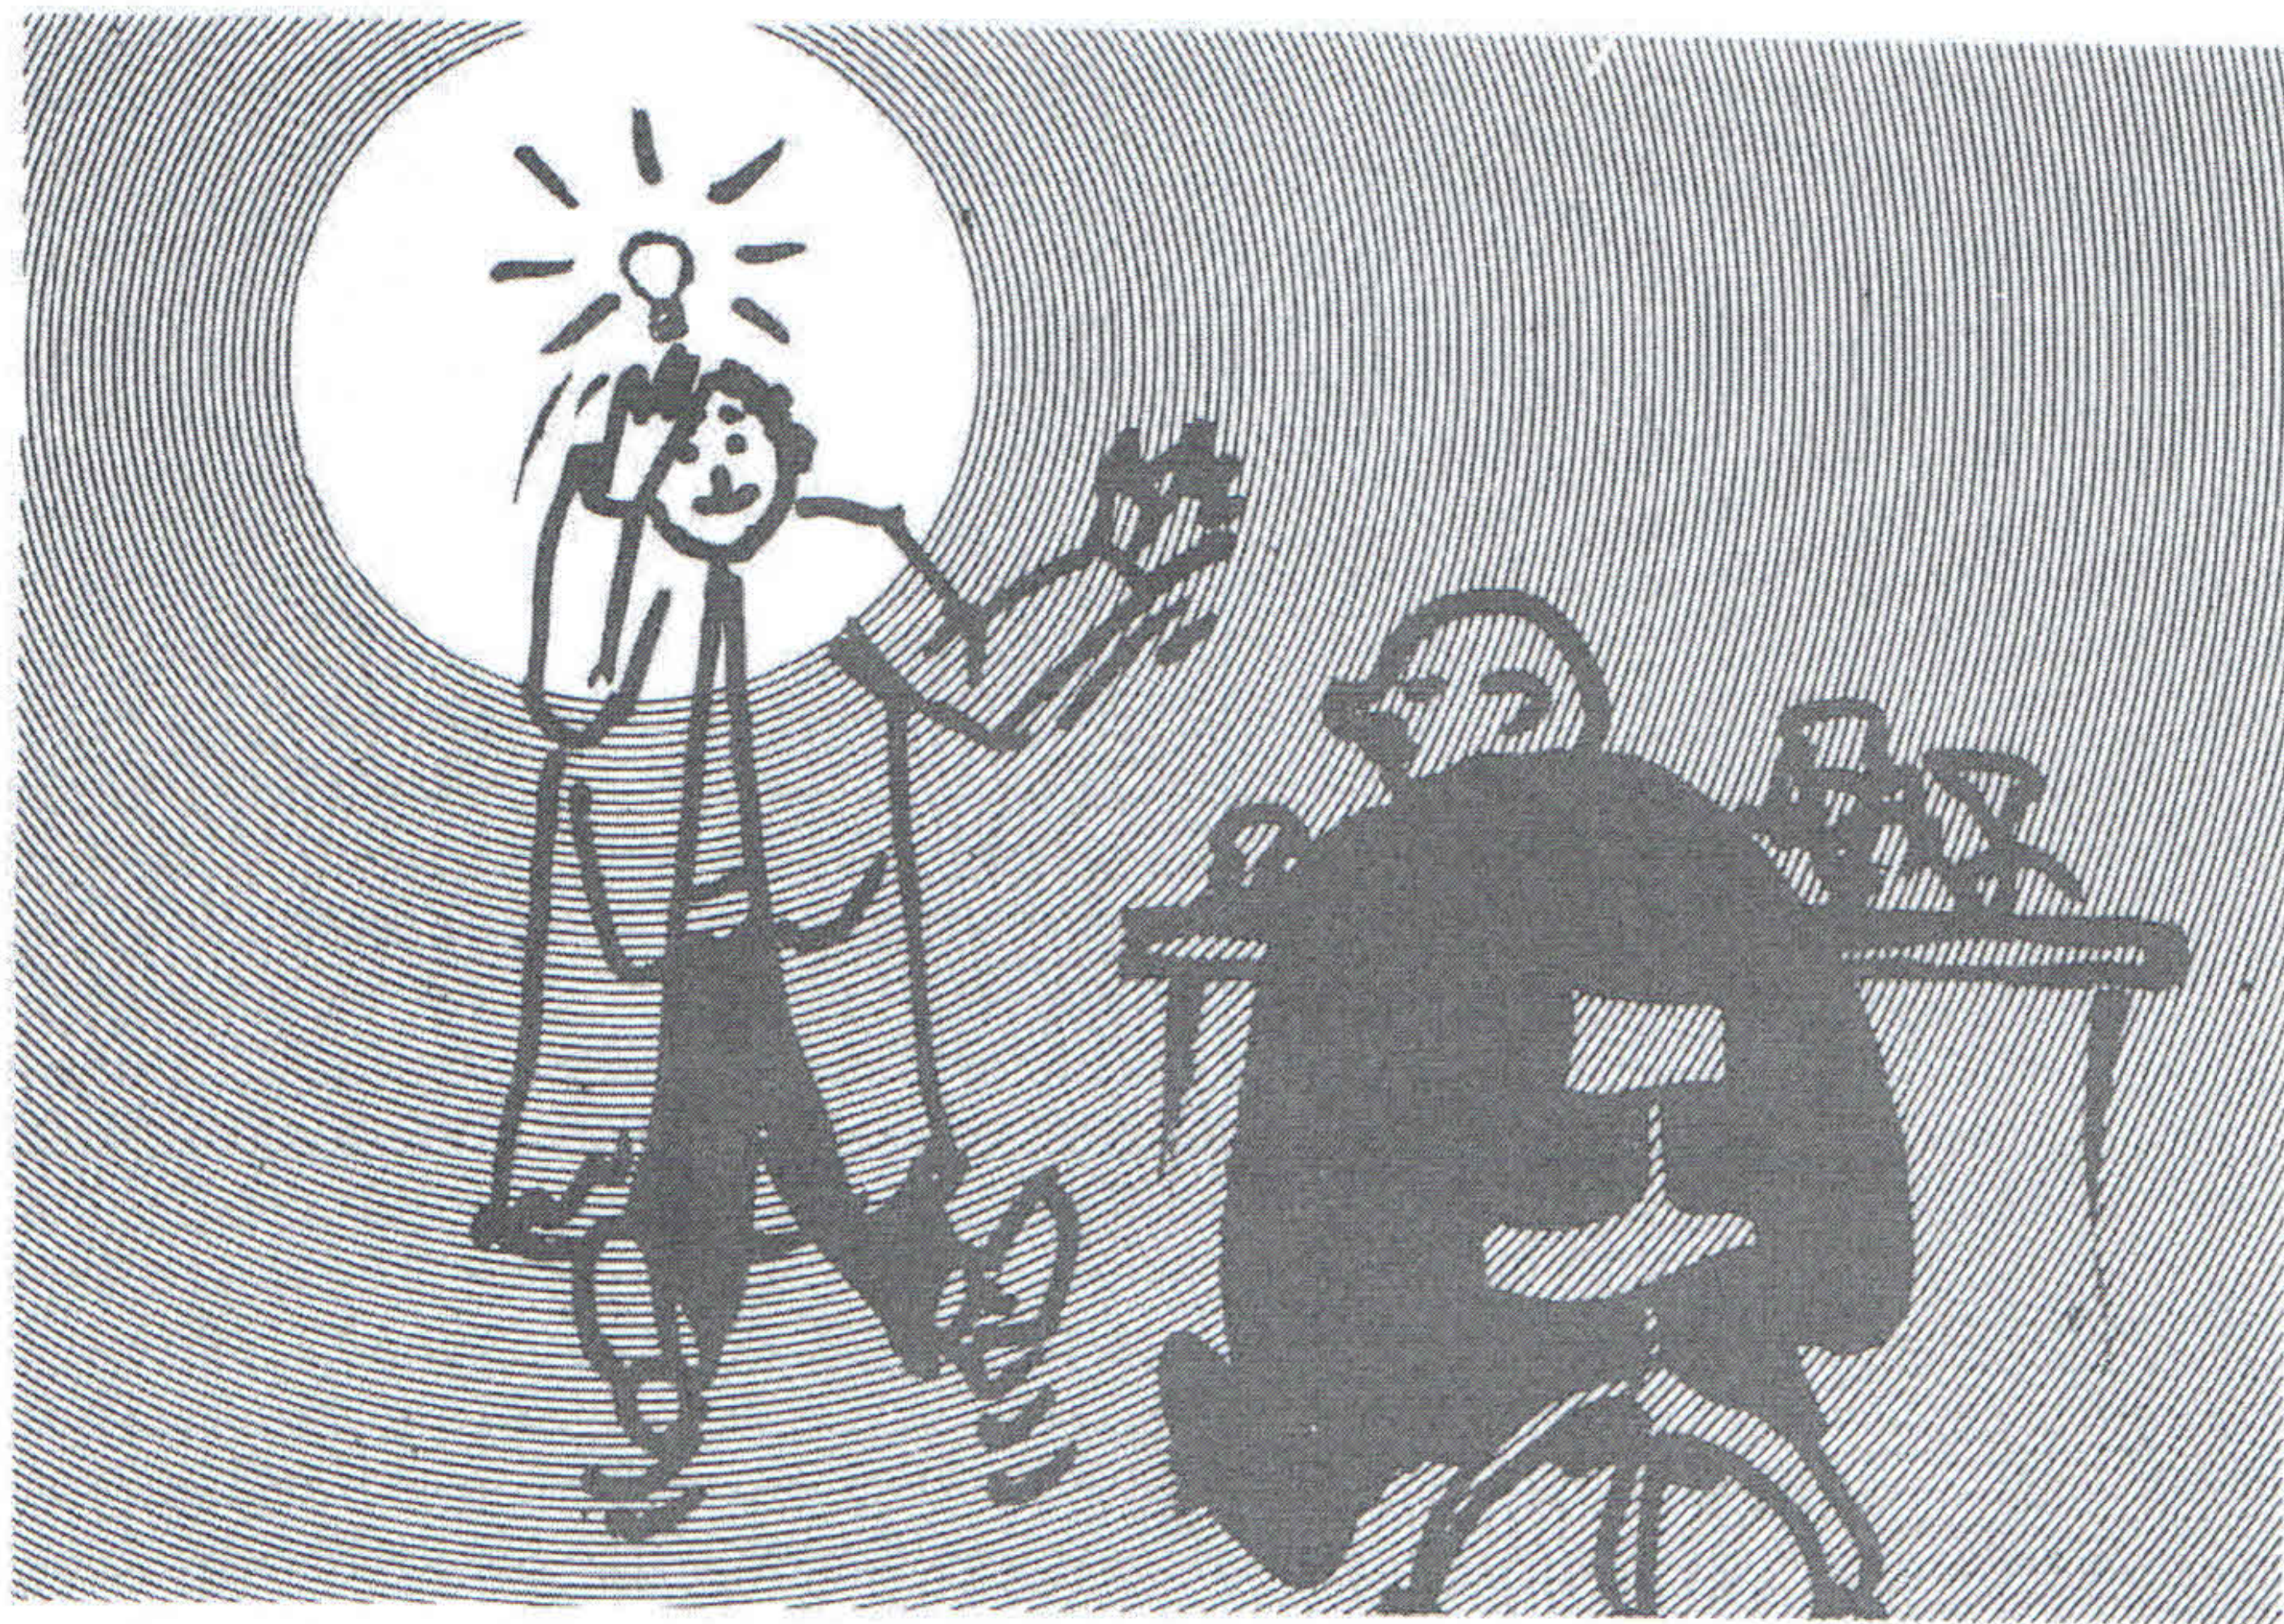

Here is a listing of the parameters planned for study.

1. Directing biomagnetic charges from a healing crystal into a Kirilian camera.
2. Impacting radiation onto the face plate of a photo multiplier, in complete darkness.
3. Projecting this same radiation onto the tube of a low light level television camera.
4. Measuring the near infra-red spectra of water before and after bioelectric charging.
5. Using dynamic capillary analyses, to study an energetic transfer from a human to the leaves of Saxifragia, Geranium, Sage, and Aloevera.
6. Sensitive crystallization of copper sulfate and cupric chloride in water.
7. Examination of blood by means of infrared, ultraviolet and fluorescent microscopy before and after bioelectric charging.
8. Treating centrifuged blood with a crystal in anticipation of a change in thermal or chemi-luminescence. In this study we hope to find evidence of associative processes taking place.

PSYCHIC RESEARCH

psy·chic (sī/'kik), adj. Also, psy/chi·eal. 1. of or pertaining to the human soul or mind; mental (opposed to physical). 2. Psychol. pertaining to or noting mental phenomena that cannot be explained otherwise than as originating outside of or independent of normal physiological processes. 3. outside of natural or scientific knowledge; spiritual. 4. of, pertaining to, associated with, attributed to, or caused by some nonphysical force or agency: psychic research; psychic phenomena. 5. specially sensitive to influences or forces of a nonphysical, apparently supernatural nature. —n. 6. a person who is specially sensitive to psychic influences or forces; medium. PROGRAMS AND SUBSCRIPTIONS

This issue has been provided to you gratis. Future issues will deal with specific projects. (As these projects are announced it is our intention to develop and offer courses of home study and experimentation for you to improve your understanding of these subjects.) The data which you collect will be accumulated, summarized and reported. You will receive a copy of that report. By participating you will make a significant contribution to the development of a body of statistical data. This data will help us understand the subtle energies.

These programs will feature instructions and sometimes work kits containing needed equipment, at a nominal cost.

Our first program is being prepared for our next issue.
